On December 4-7, 2017 in Moscow, an international forum on traditional medical systems of the world took place. On December 6 there was a round table dedicated to education in the field of traditional medical systems.

The Russian branch of the Shang Shung Institute was able to present Tibetan medicine there and share its vast experience in education. There were numerous unique presentations of the different medical systems, important dialogues and some mutual valuable decisions were made. We are very grateful to all the organizers and participants!
